防盗门、木门密封胶条

Drawings and samples of various shapes and materials of the seal

防盗门、木门自粘密封胶条

The anti-theft door adhesive sealant

Wooden door sealing strips play a crucial role in a wide range of doors and windows, including wooden doors, security doors, sliding doors, and various aluminum-plastic window and door systems. Their primary function is shock absorption, providing protective cushioning along the door edges to prevent damage, extend service life, and reduce noise transmission. Additionally, these seals offer effective airtightness, minimizing vibrations and insulating indoor spaces from outdoor air, thereby enhancing thermal efficiency and energy savings. They also serve as a barrier against insects and pests, preventing them from entering indoor environments.
